Questions that Must be Answered Soon

1. A variety of people will be having access to written material about the CIA program and physical access to the detainees. What level of security clearance is required to adequately protect the classified information?

- TS/SCI or TS/SCI [redacted]
- Can different people have different levels of clearance? (Prosecutor versus guard?)

2. What should our media policy be for the detainees' CSRTs?

- Press present for the testimony?
- Press listening to the testimony after a short time delay?
- Press being provided copies of transcripts and audiotapes several days later, following classification review?

3. How will this information be protected during the military commission proceedings?

- Create a soundproof barrier in the courtroom?
- Permit spectators to listen to the testimony after a short time delay?

4. Who should be permitted to have access to the detainees now? How should such access be regulated and by who?

- Joint FBI/CITF team to procure admissions for use at trial?
- Other U.S. or foreign law enforcement or intelligence agencies?
- Foreign law enforcement, intelligence agencies or government officials?
- Lawyers (prosecutors, defense counsel, habeas counsel)?
